18.30 Dinner hosted by WIPO

Tuesday, March 28, 2017

9.00 – 9.15 Opening ceremony

Welcome addresses by:

Mr. Neil Foster-McGregor, Deputy Director, United Nations University – Maastricht Economic Research Institute on Innovation and Technology (UNU-MERIT), Maastricht University, Maastricht

Mr. Hu Zhijian, President, Chinese Academy of Science and Technology for Development (CASTED), Beijing

Mr. Sacha Wunsch-Vincent, Senior Economist, Innovation Economics Section, Economics and Statistics Division (ESD), World Intellectual Property Organization (WIPO), Geneva

9.15 – 10.30 Session 1: Recapping the Project and Workshop Objectives

Chair: Ms. Pippa Hall, Chief Economist, Intellectual Property Office of the United Kingdom, Newport

Workshop in hands-on working meeting, with focus on a discussion of project implementation processes and issues among partners and experts

Topic 1: Presentation of the Project and Workshop Objectives

Speaker: Ms. Suma Athreya, Professor of Technology Strategy, Essex Business School, London

Topic 2: Summary of the Joint Project on International Comparison Knowledge Transfer Policies and Practices

Summary of the main agreed study elements, i.e. conceptual framework, the country and data template, and the policy questionnaire, stressing also the need to be relevant to professional / practitioner community

Speaker: Mr. Anthony Arundel, Director and Professor of Innovation, Australian Innovation Research Center, Tasmanian School of Business and Economics, University of Tasmania, and Professional Fellow, UNU-MERIT, Maastricht

Topic 3: Discussion of the Project Templates and Questionnaires (How Fitting and Feasible was the Implementation?)

Speaker: Ms. Fernanda De Negri, Director, Division for Innovation and Production Studies, Institute for Applied Economic Research (IPEA), Brasilia

Feedback of All Study Authors and Government Representatives

10.30 – 10.45 Coffee break

10.45 – 12.30 Session 2: Discussion of Draft Country Studies

Chair: Ms. Federica Rossi, Senior Lecturer in Economics,
Department of Management, Birkbeck, University of London,
London

Country studies will be presented and commented on by other authors, government representatives and experts, also to draw parallels between countries and to suggest improvements. Similarities and differences to other country studies should be assessed, in particular: (i) What aspect(s) of the university-industry interaction in that country is similar to that of the other country studies and (ii) What aspect is different or unique?

Creating Comparable Country Studies: Overview and Experiences

Project Background:

In June 2014, Mr. Francis Gurry, Director General, WIPO, agreed with H.E. Mr. Wan Gang, Minister for Science and Technology, to pursue a joint MOST-WIPO research project on knowledge transfer policies and practices. This project implements this agreement.

This project has three objectives:

1. Developing a conceptual framework for the evaluation of knowledge transfer activities, related practices and outcomes. This framework would draw on and further develop the one conceived for the World Intellectual Property Report 2011. It will underline that relying on single indicators such as university patents or licensing income alone is unlikely to capture the full spectrum of knowledge transfer activities and outcomes.
2. Identifying optimal survey methods and metrics which mirror the above conceptual framework and which help assess knowledge transfer activities and outcomes. A standardized set of metrics for assessing national or institutional performance relevant to both high- and middle-income countries will be developed. These metrics will be compared to data that are currently available for a selected number of countries in order to determine critical data gaps and to provide suggestions on how to fill them.
3. Applying different analytical methods to test the relationship between policies and practices on both knowledge transfer activities - for instance, the number of licenses - and downstream economic outcomes. If sufficient data are available, analytical methods will be applied to identify "what works best" under different conditions.

A fuller description of this project is available in the project proposal.
